Why Join Accenture?

Here are four good reasons.

Wide job variety

Always focusing on leading projects in various industries, Accenture offers the widest range of job opportunities in Thailand: cross-industry, cross-function, cross-border and cross-specialization.

Deep career development

Accenture enables its people to develop their skills and confidence. Accenture employees get the chance to become top performers by working with the best people worldwide to solve problems and do what hasn't been done before.

Leading client projects

Accenture's clients are some of the world's biggest companies. Household names come to Accenture for help with their most difficult technology challenges. So the work we do is not only important, it also has an impact; the results can be seen changing life for people around us every day. Accenture people work on vital assignments with three-quarters of the FORTUNE® Global 500, helping them achieve high performance.

World's #1 golfer

Accenture is designated as the exclusive management consulting and technology services partner of both Tiger Woods and the Tiger Woods Foundation.

Active Community Commitment

Accenture is actively committed to making our internal and external communities stronger. Externally, we encourage people to play an active role in community life—be it in charity, welfare, leisure, sports or any other community that helps society grow. Internally, our people are proud and enthusiastic to be a part of the Accenture community.

Whatever your career goals and expectations, you should explore the wide range of career options at Accenture.

We're now looking for exceptional graduates to join our consulting and technology teams: talented people with the potential to become leaders who are looking for a challenge. A career with Accenture provides you with great opportunities to build market-relevant skills in both transferable and specialist areas.

We look for applicants from a wide range of disciplines including technical degrees in Engineering, Mathematics and Computer Sciences; as well as graduates with superior academic achievement in Business/Commerce, Economics, Human Resources, Management, Finance and Law degrees.

Join our global team and you'll be delivering the innovation that helps our clients become high performance businesses.

Hear from our people . . .

Pinya

Pinya joined our System Integration & Technology practice in Thailand as an Analyst. Hear what he has to say about working at Accenture.

What attracted you to Accenture?

I have always wanted to work in the technology consulting industry where I can utilize my skills in a wide range of opportunities and Accenture provides me with that scope.

Who do you admire at Accenture, and why?

The people. For their strong leadership skills and the fact that everyone always strives to give their best in everything that they do.

What are your proudest achievements at Accenture?

I am proud of the fact that I am able to work independently and contribute towards the projects I work on. The work is very challenging, yet satisfying. The experience is unbeatable.

Chompunoot

Chompunoot is an Analyst with Accenture's Talent and Organization Performance practice in Thailand.

What excites you about your job?

The fact that everyday presents a new challenge. I have gained a lot of varied experiences from different projects. The learning curve is steep and we work very hard, but working as part of a team, I cherish the success of delivering a great result.

What has been your most interesting experience working with Accenture?

Learning about how Accenture invests in its people, with all the necessary tools and support to build up your skills. I recently participated in Accenture's Core Analyst School, where I met colleagues from many different countries. The lessons learnt and friendships formed were invaluable.

What advice would you give somebody preparing to join Accenture?

The key is to know yourself. If you enjoy working with different people, moving around, and learning something new everyday, then Accenture is the place for you.
